

Dr. Carol Wright Becker, MD FACEP is a Cheyenne native (Hobbs, McCormick, then Central High School class of 2003) who completed her undergraduate studies at the University of North Dakota majoring in Psychology and Honors in 2007. Immediately afterwards she went to the University of Washington School of Medicine under the WWAMI program and in 2011 started her residency at George Washington University in Washington DC. In 2015 she went to work at Cheyenne Regional Medical Center as an Emergency Department physician. In 2018 Dr. Wright went on to get status of Fellow of the American College of Emergency Physicians (FACEP). Dr. Wright enjoys providing care in the community in which she grew up and greatly enjoys teaching medical students. She finds Emergency Medicine to be an ever-fascinating field that requires a broad knowledge base and familiarity with a variety of illnesses. While in residency she did special training in bedside ultrasound and has trained others in this technology. When not working, Doctor Wright enjoys spending time with her family including three-(3) children which includes a set of twins.
